PAID FOR TWO DAYS

Election Inspectors Allowed Six Dollars for Services

FOR WORKING 24 HOURS

The Responsibility of an Alleged Dishee-Other Aldermanic Action.

The council committee on ways and means failed to make a basis on which to figure the bills presented by the in-spectors of election and all the bills were allowed at $6 each last night, notwithstanding the fact that some inspectors did almost double the work of others. In some precincts there were 800 ballots cast, while in others there were but 400. In some presuncts the inspectors finished their work before midnight, while others worked until nearly noon the next day after election. There was little of excitement in the council last night and the aldermen adjourned early.

Residents near the corner of South Division street and Fifth avenue complained that the saloon occupied by John O'Donnell in that locality was an intolerable nuisance. Disorderly dances are held above the saloon and liquor was believed to be sold illegally. They asked to have his license revoked. On motion of Alderman Dregge it was referred to the board of police and fire commissioners. O'Donnell is the man who attempted last summer to get a hoense to open the "Boulevard" and was refused by the council. Property owners asked for a low light at the corner of Grandville avenue and Hall street; referred to the committee on lamps.

The following appeal from the labor-ing men of the third highway district was read: To the Honorable Mayor and Commor Council of the City of Grand Rapids—Gentlemen: The laboring men of the third highway district appeal to your honorable body in regard to the nine hour system. We think it unjust and hope sincerely that it won't prevail. Gentlemen consider the work we have to do cleaning sewers and settling basins and the stench from such work is enough to take the health away from a horse and how can we away from a horse and how can we stand it; and, gentlemen, we are not hired by the hour we are hired by the day. I have worked twelve years for the city and never heard of such a thing as nine hours. We have nothing to live upon but our day wages and for God's sake don't reduce our pay. Excuse my writing please. Yours truly, Laboring men appeal.

A bill of $330.99 presented by Thomas Twamley, interest on orders, caused a temporary ruffle in the bosom of the august body. Alderman Mills thought it was Fred Twamley who had presented the bill and made a kick about city employes speculating in bills against the city. It did not occur to Mr. Mills that the city paid more than $5,000 of exactly similar bills in the past year. The bill was ordered paid.

RESULTS ON STATE OFFICERS

Many Ballot Boxes Will Arrive Today -Little Misunderstandings Among the Recount Committee Members.

The recount for congressman did not progress to any appreciable extent yesterday. While there was no session of the canvassing board, it was expected that the committee would begin work on the ballot boxes, or at least that the bulk of them would be on hand ready to be opened today. Supervisor Benamin, chairman of the congressional recount committee, had a list made of the exty-one precincts of the county. ready to give receipts and check off as the boxes came in, but they didn't come. Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Benjamin's entire inventory was one box from a city precinct and five from the townships and six keys. Three of these had before been returned when a recount on the Richardson petition was first ordered.

Little Misunderstandings.

Notices had been served on the city clerk and on the township custodians of the boxes to bring them in "on or before Tuesday, November 22, at 2 o'clock p. m"., but Mr. Benjamin thought the committee's work would be facilitated if the city clerk would send over the city boxes yesterday. Mr. Shinkman did not seem inclined to do this, and when asked about the matter by a reporter for The Herald said that if he should deliver the boxes to the chairman alone the act would very the chairman alone the act would very properly be open to public criticism, but that he was ready at any moment to send the boxes over to the court house when both parties were represented on the committee. The canvassers from the townships will come vasers from the townships will come in today with their boxes under their arms. It is something of a job to get the outfit together in the country as the supervisor has custody of the key, the oldest justice of the peace the seal, and the township cierk the box. The recount committee may be able to begin its actual work at the close of this gin its actual work at the close of this afternoon's session of the board.

The box received from the first precinct of Grand Kapids township is a gem. The election inspectors dis-carded the old ballot box early in the day and used a dry goods box with a hole cut in the top. The cover of the improvised box was fastened on with leather hinges and a big padlock. In brought into service.

Launiere Was Vexed, L. L. Launiere, the democratic member of the committee on congressional recount, was in considerable of a stew last night over the fact that Chairman Benjamin had assumed custody of the ballot boxes. Said Mr. Laumere: "The resolution ordering the boxes provides that they be left with the county clerk, and I had no idea until a short time ago that Mr. Benjamin had undertaken to take charge of them. I propose to be on hand tomorrow and see how this thing is being done. The chairman is assuming too much authority in this business."

Inquiry of County Clerk Harvey developed the fact that the boxes thus far received were in the basement vault of the county clerk's office, one key of which is held by Mr. Benjamin, the other by Mr. Harvey. As only two or three boxes have as yet been received in addition to those called for on the Richardson petition, there is little cause for criticism. It was rumored about town last avaning that Mr. Bel. about town last evening that Mr. Bel-knap had again withdrawn from the contest, but this was emphatically de-nied by Mr. Belknap himself.

The State Canvass,

The committee appointed to canvase the state vote got along nicely yester-day, their only drawback being the fact that eight of the city precincts have failed to make any returns on the have failed to make any returns on the office of secretary of state to fill vacancy. The delinquent precincts are as follows: First, second and third precincts of the eleventh ward, second precinct of the twelfth, second precinct of the seventh, first of the fitth, third of the fourth, and second of the third. The committee partially completed its work late last evening, the results of which are as follows:

Last evening Miss Preusser gave a reception and dancing party at the readence of her father. A. Preusser, in honor of her guest, Miss Peyton, of Liverpool, England. The rooms were decorated with pick chrysanthemuma, banks of them being displayed in both parlors. The drawing room was converted into a hower furnished with setters, and was also decorated in pink. Braun's rehestra in the rear pari r discoursed music and the rooms, which Cast in Kent County at the were cauvassed, were filled with merry dancers. During the intermissions in the dance program dainty refresh-ments were served.

Three Rods the Goat

Three Rods the Goat.

Last evening Grand Rapide Chapter No. 7. Royal Arch Masons, exemplified the degree of Royal Arch upon Candidates Lundquist, Blake and Haan. The work was performed by Past Grand Master J. W. Champlin, acting as high priest, Grand Master William P. Innes as king, Past Grand Master William Dunham as scribe, Past High Priest Harvey Taft as principal so-journer. The goat was well conditioned and the candidates were initiated in their regulation manner.

After the ceremonies a banquet was given at the Bridge Street house, and although covers were set for 200 guests all the persons present could not be accommodated the first time. The banquet was very informal. Past Grand Masters Innes, Dunham and Hatheway made happy after dinner speeches.

Governor Luce's Campaign.

There was another meeting of Governor Luce's friends in room No. 118 of the Morton last night. Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, N. McGrath of Muskegon, Wm. Alden Smith, John N. Bladgett and Aaron B. Turner, editor of The Eagle were present. Methods of advancing the governor's campaign were discussed. Some of those present thought the chief object of the governor's friends should be to "lay out" Senator Stockbridge; but Milo D. Campbell and others opposed this, and declared their object was not to pull down anybody; but to strengthen and build up Governor Luce's candidacy. Nothing of special importance was accomplished.

To Settle Freight Rates. E. C. Leavenworth of the G. R. & I., and F. V. Davis of the C. & W. M. will go to Indianapolis today to consult with representatives of southern roads relative to a settlement of rates. The meeting will not effect through rates, but there are some technicalities in the present schedule that are in dispute, and a final settlement will be made. Mr. Leavenworth and Mr. Davis will act as the representatives of the roads in this territory.

Roach Willing to Fight.

Johnny Roach, the young pugilist who whipped Harry Sincere of Kalamazoo at Muskegon recently, called at The Herald office last night to announce his acceptance of a challenge sent him by Sincere for another "mill." Roach says he will fight Sincere six rounds, stipulating only that the fight shall not take place at Muskegon. The fight will probably be at one of the local athletic clubs.
